

Abstract

The present invention provides a process and apparatus for producing container plants in a covered raised-bed environment.